Foreword

On March 3rd, 2016, the Members of the 18th Legislative Assembly unanimously adopted the Mandate of the Government of the Northwest Territories, 2016 – 2019. The mandate represents the Government of the Northwest Territories' (GNWT) commitment to enhancing transparency and accountability by clearly stating how the GNWT will advance the priorities of the 18th Legislative Assembly over its four-year term.

In June 2017, the GNWT and the Standing Committee on Priorities and Planning (SCOPP) each tabled a mid-term progress report on the GNWT's implementation of our mandate. While both reports acknowledge that the GNWT is making significant progress toward fulfilling our commitments, it was determined that new information, changing external factors and the need for improved clarity and reporting warranted adjustments to the mandate and priorities to better reflect our focus and direction for the remainder of the term of the 18th Legislative Assembly.

The Mandate of the Government of the Northwest Territories, 2016-2019 has been revised based on input received from SCOPP and Caucus and the GNWT's own assessments of our progress and work remaining. Revisions to the mandate include new commitments and sub-commitments, the clarification of existing commitments, the removal of duplicate commitments, and the restructuring of existing commitments to allow progress to be better tracked and reported. While much of the feedback presented in SCOPP's progress report has been addressed through changes to the mandate, other comments will be addressed through revised milestones and enhanced reporting and communication between the GNWT and Standing Committees.

The mandate review process has provided a valuable opportunity for all Members to reflect on progress made towards achieving the GNWT's commitments, and to continue to communicate and seek solutions that are in the best interests of the residents of the Northwest Territories. The GNWT remains committed to working with all Members toward fulfilling the government's existing and new commitments in the mandate for the remainder of the term of the 18th Legislative Assembly.

Introduction

The Government of the Northwest Territories (GNWT) has a responsibility to all residents to develop and implement an integrated, long-range plan for creating a territory where all of our people, communities and regions share in the benefits of a healthy, just, sustainable and prosperous society. We want to see an Northwest Territories (NWT) where our people can thrive and be healthy, where a well-managed environment contributes to our economic well-being and quality of life, and where a strong economy provides jobs and opportunities for our communities as well as funding for government programs.

The GNWT remainsis committed to achieving this vision of social progress, environmental sustainability and economic development built on a foundation of strong consensus government and the revised priorities agreed upon by all Members of the 18th Legislative Assembly.

A strong territory needs a strong society. All residents of the NWT should have the chance to enjoy the benefits of living in a prosperous, well-governed territory and to participate fully in a healthy, just society. The GNWT is committed to helping our residents achieve their aspirations for themselves, their families and their communities.

The land is our life and the source of our wealth and well_being. Healthy people depend on a healthy environment, and our natural resources have the potential to support a strong, sustainable economy that all residents and future generations can share in. We have a responsibility as stewards of the land to make prudent decisions about how we use, share and protect the land, in a way that reflects the values and priorities of our residents.

A thriving economy gives NWT residents the chance to support themselves and their families, and gives government the financial means to pay for the programs and services our people need. But we can'-not have a thriving economy without healthy, educated people. We need people to own and run businesses and employees to work in them. And people need education and training to play a role in the economic life of the territory.

A strong, effective and efficient government will help northerners achieve their social, environmental and economic goals. All northerners must have an opportunity to shape and influence decisions about the things that matter most to them: about their economy, about their environment and about the kind of society they want to have. And once those decisions are made, governments need to have the capacity, legislative authority and financial resources to implement those decisions and be accountable for their choices.

In our decision-making and planning, we will continue to be guided by principles of respect, openness and collaboration, ensuring that we are hearing from the people that we serve and making decisions that consider their wishes. We will continue to seek the guidance of the Legislative Assembly and the people represented, and adopt a territorial perspective that considers the needs and aspirations of every region and community to make decisions that are in the best interest of all residents. We will continue to be prudent and fiscally responsible, making best use of limited resources to ensure the long-term sustainability of the programs and services that the people of the NWT need to realize their hopes for themselves and for the territory.

This mandate describes the strategic direction that the Government of the Northwest Territories will undertake in the remainder of the term to advance the updated priorities of the 18th Assembly. Our purpose is to create a secure and sustainable future for the territory and its people under the guidance of the Legislative Assembly and its Members. We remainare committed to working in every sector to advance the priorities of the Assembly with plans, strategies and programs in a way that will provide for current and future needs; and create a foundation for the long-term success of all northerners.

Economy, Environment & Climate Change

The sustainability and growth of the NWT economy requires strategic investment, diversification, and modernization towards a high-tech and lower-carbon future. In the NWT, the direct and indirect contribution of the non-renewable resource sector accounts for one-third of the economy. Mining and mineral-related activities are, and for some time will be, the largest provider of high-paying NWT jobs and the main driver of the territorial economy. Benefits from non-renewable resource production enable investment into other sectors of the economy, into energy systems, and into lowering the cost of living. While commodity prices for oil and gas and the price of rough diamonds are currently low, the government recognizes the need to invest now to capitalize on future resource demand.

Mining will play a significant and continuing role in the NWT's economy. However, the government also supports economic diversification through strategic investment to support tourism, import substitution, manufacturing, and other renewable resource-based activities locally, within Canada and internationally. Economic development must be supported by improved and intensified skills development for the labour market, so that NWT residents can take advantage of current and future job opportunities. With the Northwest Territories Lands and Resources Devolution Agreement having been completed by the previous government, it is now time to work with Canada, Aboriginal governments, industry and environmental partners to continue to evolve and improve our regulatory system. The government believes in a responsible, sustainable and balanced approach to land use. This will be achieved in partnership with northerners, through a mix of legislative amendments, regulations, and strategic policy. We need to work together to create the conditions for foreign and domestic economic investment while preserving the values of sustainability. This also means having a strategic response to climate change that recognizes international and national emissions targets and pricing schemes, alongside the realities of our northern geography and climate which drive energy consumption and the cost of living.

Our plan is to continue investing begins with continuing to invest in developing a skilled northern workforce, making strategic investments in infrastructure, and working in partnership to improve the regulatory system and adapt to climate change. This is how:

1. Making strategic investments in transportation infrastructure, resource development, and workforce development and the knowledge economy utilizing partnerships with northern and Aboriginal businesses;

- We will capture opportunities for investment in transportation infrastructure by working to secure funding to advance planning and construction of transportation projects, including three priority corridors: the Mackenzie Valley Highway, make an all-weather road from Highway 3 to Whati Tłıcho All-season Road, and improve access into the Slave Geological Province Access Corridor.

Education, Training and Youth Development

Education is a key element to achieving the overall goals of a strong and sustainable territory with healthy communities and residents. Employment and education are inextricably linked, with 83 per cent of residents 15 years of age and older with post-secondary education having a job, compared to an employment rate of 49 per cent for those without a post-secondary diploma, certificate or degree. Employment and education also have strong linkages to reduced issues related to health, crime and housing.

There have been improvements in education outcomes over time in the Northwest Territories, but gaps continue to exist. Disparities in education outcomes between large and small communities and between Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal residents are apparent.

Improving education outcomes requires a multi-faceted approach from early childhood development, to the school system, to post-secondary education and training programs. There is a need for strong linkages between each phase, to support residents as they pass through each phase, and as they develop the skills and knowledge to fully participate in their communities. In recent years, the GNWT has developed key strategic frameworks such as Right from the Start, an early childhood development framework, the Education Renewal and Innovation Framework, to reform the school system, and the Skills_4_Success 10-Year sStrategic fFramework, associated with post-secondary education and training. These foundational documents provide a path, and it will be critical that we continue to develop and implement actions and measure outcomes in support of the goals we have outlined.

Our plan is to continue investing begins with continuing to invest in quality early childhood development, supporting the JK-12 system, supporting effective post-secondary opportunities, strengthening cultural and Aboriginal language programming, and building capacity for our youth. This is how:

- 1. Supporting quality early childhood development in collaboration with existing organizations.
- We will implement the Right from the Start Framework to invest in early childhood development by:
 - Working with stakeholders and communities to explore options for free playbased care for 4-year olds.
 - ♦ Revising the funding support model for licensed early childhood programs.

- Strengthening licensed early childhood programs through improving resource materials and increased training for early childhood workers.
- Improving access to and outcomes of early intervention services for children 0-5 by looking at the results of evaluating NWT rehabilitation services and by continuing pilot projects in the Dehcho, Tłįchǫ, and Beaufort Delta regions, along with territorial program design.
- Supporting parents with programs and supports to help ensure their children have a strong foundation.
- ♦ Working with our partners to identify the need for any additional assessments for 3 and 4-year-olds entering school, beginning in the 2018-2019 school year.

2. Increasing IK-12 support systems to improve educational outcomes.

- We will implement the Education Renewal and Innovation Framework by:
 - Implementing the renewed K-12 Inclusive Schooling Directive which provides greater direction on roles and responsibilities, increases the number of Program Support Teachers, increases emphasis on training, and increases accountability.

 - Expanding the NWT distance learning pilot project to increase access for NWT senior secondary students in all communities.
 - Undertaking a planning study on options for shared service administration across NWT school boards.
- 3. Expanding opportunities for post-secondary education, trades-oriented learning, and northern educational institutions.

- We will take steps to close the skills gap using the Skills4Success strategic framework, by conducting a Foundational Review of working with Aurora College followed by on a renewed strategic plan and any necessary updates to the Aurora College Act as informed by the Foundational Review, refocusing support for post-secondary institutions in NWT, improving outcomes from our Community Learning Centres, strengthening the apprenticeship program, and improving our career development services.
- We will offer online delivery of community government training curriculum to build capacity for careers that focus on community governance.
- We will develop legislation that outlines a quality assurance system on the basis of which post-secondary institutions will be recognized/authorized in the NWT.
- 4. Increasing cultural programming and education, revitalizing aboriginal languages and promoting use of official languages.
- We will strengthen culture and heritage in the NWT by implementing a renewed Aboriginal Language and Culture-based Education Directive in order to strengthen the role of schools in supporting Aboriginal language development and incorporate culture in programming, work with the Government of Canada towards a strengthened multi-year Canada-Northwest Territories Co-operation Agreement for French and Aboriginal Languages, develop an action plan for the Culture and Heritage Strategic Framework, and work with stakeholders to update the 2010 NWT Aboriginal Languages Plan: A Shared Responsibility.
- We will finalize, in conjunction with Aboriginal governments, co-management partners and traditional user groups, a culturally appropriate, made in the north, hunter education program for delivery in all communities of the NWT.
- We will build partnerships to expand resources available for community-based traditional economy programs.
- We will continue to implement the Traditional Knowledge Policy and Framework across the GNWT while working with Aboriginal governments to develop an action plan to improve inclusion of traditional knowledge in program development, and in implementation and decision making.

• We will work collaboratively with the NWT's francophone community to support French language education.

5. Enhancing and promoting capacity-building programs for our youth.

- We will get more 18-24 year olds into the labour market by using a better mix of improved educational attainment and skill development, while matching skills with employer needs through improved career development supports.
- We will implement the Youth Resiliency program in schools and during after school programs to help improve student outcomes and increase graduation rates.
- We will support opportunities for youth by ensuring effective youth programming such as the Youth Corps, Youth Contributors, Youth Ambassador Programs, Youth Centres, and Youth Tours.
- We will promote and improve student financial assistance to support NWT youth in developing the skills and abilities to meet their potential as well as territorial labour demand.
- We will implement programs that support youth in their communities and in their schools to encourage local food production and consumption.

Cost of Living

Lowering the cost of living in the NWT is essential to improving our residents' quality of life, attracting more people to make their homes in the territory, and expanding economic opportunities for residents, investors, and entrepreneurs. People and businesses in the Northwest Territories experience higher costs of living and higher operating costs primarily as a result of fuel and electricity costs that greatly exceed rates in the rest of Canada, an aging and underdeveloped transportation system that raises the price of goods, and high building and operating costs that make for expensive housing. These are factors that result from the NWT's climate, distance from major markets, and a relatively small, widely dispersed population. At a time when interest rates are comparatively low, and the demand for a better quality of life and need for population growth is high, now is the time to build for our future.

The government is seizing sees opportunities for partnership with the Government of Canada and local governments on areas of mutual priority such as infrastructure investment and addressing climate change. We recognize that those who feel the territory's high cost of living most intensely are our most vulnerable residents, including those who are homeless and unemployed. Vulnerable conditions can be bridged by better managing our wildlife and traditional economy to provide local food options, improving coordination between governments to address homelessness and housing options, and using innovation to get communities off expensive diesel fuel consumption.

Longer term investments are required to strengthen connections for the movement of goods into communities and to move resources to markets. There is potential to expand hydroelectric capacity and diversify energy production with solar, wind, biomass and geothermal sources. We believe that improving the security and affordability of housing requires attention to the full spectrum of shelter options, including partnering on homelessness solutions, addressing demand with forward thinking planning and building, and using common sense management and appropriate pricing structures.

Our plan is to continue begins with focusing attention on the cost drivers that directly affect families, so that people are secure in their shelter, food, and childcare to allow for participation in the economy, while expanding and modernizing territory-wide energy, transportation, and housing infrastructure. This is how:

1. Increasing the availability of safe, affordable housing and creating solutions for addressing homelessness.

- We will continue to implement northern solutions for northern housing by:
 - Working in partnership with other orders of government to address affordable housing requirements in support of their service delivery to NWT residents.
 - Developing program approaches such as Housing First to address high demand for single person households, including those that are homeless.
 - Reviewing the GNWT's homelessness supports and implementing recommendations that improve policy and program consistency between departments.
 - Implementing community-based housing property management services in rural and remote communities to improve service levels.
 - Developing options for rationalizing public housing utility pricing structures to promote self-reliance.
 - Demolishing vacant housing units that are beyond their useful life in order to support land requirements for new housing investment.
 - Developing options to support Aboriginal and local governments in their housing aspirations and initiatives to address homelessness.
 - Ensuring that housing programs and services reflect community values and priorities.
 - Developing housing programs and services that deliver households from core housing need.
- We will support community-based planning to help make land available for the construction of affordable and market housing and to support community governments in dealing with derelict properties in their community.
- We will address the shortage of market housing in tax-based communities through collaboration with stakeholders, including the private sector, other governments, and third party organizations.
- 2. Improving food security by encouraging local food production, traditional harvesting, and effective co-management of caribou herds and other wildlife.
- We will develop and implement a multi-year management strategy for barren-ground

- caribou in the Northwest Territories.
- We will develop a range plan for boreal caribou in the Northwest Territories.

- We will develop and implement an Agriculture Strategy to increase domestic food production, improve distribution networks for NWT-produced foods, and to increase producer and supplier opportunities.
- 3. Supporting the use of energy-efficient technologies in residential, commercial, and public sectors.
- We will expand and improve access to incentives for residents to invest in energyefficient products, help businesses, condominiums, and cooperatives invest in energy conservation and efficiency, and support residents and communities so that they can make investments into renewable energies, such as solar, and improve the energy efficiency of public housing.
- We will create a new three-year energy action plan, building on previous investments made over the past three years and the outcomes of the energy plan review.
- We will assist community governments to improve energy efficiency and conservation, to reduce the impact of climate change by supporting development of community governments' capital, energy and asset plans, to ensure training includes challenges related to climate change, and enable community governments to set up revolving funds for energy efficiency measures use local improvement charges for the purpose of

- assisting residents and/or businesses in implementing energy efficiency retrofits and/or renewable energy technologies.
- We will improve the energy efficiency of public housing.

4. Increasing the production and transmission of renewable and alternative energy.

- We will develop a territorial climate change strategy that takes into account northern energy demands and the cost of living, while reflecting international and national commitments to lower greenhouse gas emissions, exploring options for carbon pricing systems, and capturing local alternatives such as hydro, biomass, wind, geothermal and solar.
- We will implement a new NWT Energy Strategy that will include renewable and alternative energy solutions and actions that the GNWT and our partners will undertake to meet targets for greenhouse gas reductions in heating and power generation as well as a 10-year strategy for investing federal and other funding towards energy projects. We will continue to investigate and implement renewable and alternative energy solutions to replace the use of imported diesel fuel for power generation in the Thermal Zone and reduce the use of diesel fuel for heating in all regions, including looking at the feasibility of wind energy, solar generation, geothermal and biomass energy initiatives.

Community Wellness and Safety

Much of the social context of the NWT is the product of historical factors such as colonization, residential schools, rapid cultural change, and the removal of people's power to make decisions about their own lives. There exist significant gaps when comparing the social conditions of people in the NWT with those in the rest of Canada, comparing Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal residents in NWT, comparing between genders, and considering whether a person lives in a smaller or larger NWT community. Most social conditions in the territory are showing improvement over time; for example, graduation rates are going up, rates of violent crime are going down, and infant mortality rates have decreased. There is evidence that intervention at the earliest stages of life, preventative measures, and having sustainable social systems in place that recognize root causes such as culture and social history can make a difference.

Community wellness and safety begins with supports to encourage individuals and families to be and stay healthy. Healthy lifestyles, including mental health, may be achieved and maintained through are kept with the promotion of physical activity, volunteerism, positive relationships within families, and time on the land. These are the things we believe help to prevent chronic disease, partner and family violencedomestic abuse, and feelings of helplessness. This means getting it right from the start, before children are even born and when they are under age 5, through until late in life when planning is required to ensure independence for seniors in the places where they are most comfortable. When mental health concerns do arise, especially for youth, our communities and health care system need to be prepared with services that take into account one's culture, location, and social settingcircumstances. When chronic disease is diagnosed, it needs to be caught early, by health practitioners who understand the cultural and historical dimensions of health-care in NWT. When family violence or crime does occur, we need measures in place to reintegrate offenders and heal families. Territorial government is one partner in ensuring the wellness and safety of our communities, alongside families, community groups, police, courts, and schools.

Our plan continues to be to focus on begins with prevention, by encouraging healthy lifestyles and strong families, making sure sustainable and responsive systems are in place for people when they are needed, and planning for individual well-being from birth to old age, being mindful of our history and culture, but confident that our residents have many strengths to build upon and anchor us towards a better future. Governance

Governance in the NWT continues to evolve as territorial, regional, and local governments take on new responsibilities. What has not changed, is the significant and ongoing role that respect and recognition play in northern governance. With the Northwest Territories Lands and Resources Devolution Agreement having been completed by the previous government, now is the time to evolve towards greater land use sustainability, through effective and coordinated land, resource, and water management systems. To be successful, we need to build and maintain strong relations between with our government and our partner Aboriginal and community governments.

We believe that better governance starts with the GNWT being a better government. Consensus government will constantly evolve, and to support that evolution this government will continue to work to ensure that the public is better informed about the decision-making process and that all people have an opportunity to take part in our system. With the appointment of a Minister responsible for Public Engagement and Transparency, we are prepared to move moving towards stronger policy for open government by enhancing our communications, service delivery, and ways of doing business. From there, we intend to lead the country in building progressive relationships with Aboriginal governments, recognizing that having these relationships not only benefit Aboriginal governments, but also make, it makes all governments stronger. Moreover, resolving outstanding land, resource, and selfgovernment agreements provides increased certainty to promote economic development. Community governments are playing stronger roles in NWT governance, but still require investment, training, and capacity building to ensure that their infrastructure, decision making systems, and planning processes reflect the needs of the people who live there. Finally, government has a role in addressing the long-standing underrepresentation of women in territorial elected office, but promotion and facilitation by government must be matched by other societal groups supporting more women in leadership roles.

Our plan begins We will continue to implement initiatives toward with being a modern open and accountable governance ment, by working with our partner Aboriginal and community governments to complete agreements and build capacity, and by supporting efforts to see increased participation and success for women in politics. This is how:

1. Collaborating and fostering government-to-government relationships with Aboriginal governments.

Reporting

Accountability is crucial to effective, responsible and transparent government. Our elected representatives must ensure the government remains committed to its mandate determined at the outset of the 18th Legislative Assembly. Transparency, in turn, allows the public to be informed about government decisions, generates discussion about the direction of government, and increases the ability of all elected Members to hold the government to account. Accountability and transparency reinforce one another in positive ways for our democracy.

Consensus government in the NWT continues to evolve towards increased accountability and transparency. The Legislative Assembly's Process Convention on Priority Setting and Reporting provides for sets out how government priorities are set at the beginning of a new by the Assembly and how government is held to account for acting on the priorities. There are many ways that government is held to account for its actions, including debate of its budgets, oral questions, and meetings of legislative committees. Specifically, this the Process Convention requires the government to report at least once every 12 months on the progress it is making to implement the mandate, and to make this reporting public. At the mid-point of the life of the 18th Assembly, the Process Convention requires the Legislative Assembly will to prorogue in order to review, debate, and if necessary adjust the priorities of the 18th Assembly and the corresponding government mandate.

The Mandate of the Government of the Northwest Territories, 2016-2019 (Revised) is the culmination of this mandate review process. At the end of the 18th Assembly's term, a joint Special Committee on Transition Matters will review progress and make recommendations to the next Assembly. There are many other ways that the government is held to account for its actions in addition to the mandate, including debate of its budgets, oral questions, and meetings of legislative committees.

To guide the implementation and coordination of its mandate, the government has revised the Committees-of-Cabinet structure to include four established eight Committees-of-Cabinet—The structure of these committees that reflects the commitments of the government in response to the priorities of the 18th Legislative Assembly. They are:

- ♦ Priorities and Planning, chaired by Hon. Robert. R. McLeod
- ♦ Energy and Climate Change, chaired by Hon. Robert R. McLeod
- ♦ Economy and Environment, chaired by Hon. Wally Schumann

- ♦— Infrastructure, chaired by Hon. Robert C. McLeod
- ♦ Governance, chaired by Hon. Louis Sebert
- ♦ Cost of Living, chaired by Hon. Caroline Cochrane
- ♦ Education, Training and Youth, chaired by Hon. Alfred Moses
- Social Envelope Community Wellness and Safety, chaired by Hon. Glen Abernethy

In addition to formally submitting an annual report to the Standing Committee on Priorities and Planning, the government <code>intends to-tracks</code> progress on commitments made in the mandate through a publically available reporting <code>websitetool_(www.eia.gov.nt.ca/en/mandates)</code>. This <code>websitetool</code>, which <code>is will be-maintained</code> on an ongoing basis, <code>will-provides</code> contextual and issue-specific information, and demonstrates the linkages and relationships between the strategic commitments made by government in the mandate, the work of <code>the government under major themeseach Committee-of-Cabinet</code>, and the priorities of the 18th Assembly. In this way, the public can track and monitor details on the progress of mandate implementation.

The broader goal of this reporting is to improve not just accountability and transparency, but the programs and services government has put in place for a healthy, vibrant and prosperous territory. Ultimately, greater scrutiny of government policies, programs and services will help ensure the government implements its mandate in a manner that is most effective and fiscally responsible.
