TABLED DOCUMENT NO. 10-48

TABLED ON JANUARY 25, 1973

We who live at Tuktoyaktuk and sign our names below are very, very disappointed to learn that our community will not be receiving the many educational and recreational benefits of television.

We, for many months now both through our settlement council and through our territorial representative, have asked George Davidson, the former President of the C.B.C., the Hon. Robert Stanbury, the former Minister of Communications, the Hon. Gerard Pelletier, the former Secretary of State and the Hon. Jean Chretien, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development for television services in Tuktoyaktuk.

Our community, not counting the oil exploration people working nearby, numbers almost 700 in population. Counting the people working in oil exploration camps in the Tuktoyaktuk area our population approaches 1200 people.

There are many young people in Tuktoyaktuk with over 200 students attending classes up to Grade 8. The North is changing very rapidly and we, the people of the North, require information and ideas to help us be ready for the changes that are taking place.

We have asked for television because it informs, educates and entertains at the same time. We note that the people of Fort McPherson will be getting television services this year. The people of Fort McPherson are very fortunate since they have been able to get some reception from the frontier package television service broadcasting from Inuvik.

We, however, living in Tuktoyaktuk only 90 miles from the Inuvik transmitter get nothing and it was only recently that we have been able to enjoy a reliable and adequate radio service. The C.B.C. has said the cost of providing television service to us is very great. Surely with the existing C.N. transmission tower at Parsons Lake to act as a relay transmitter, the equipment required to extend television services to Tuktoyaktuk and the surrounding area should not be very much.

Please look into this matter and tell us as soon as possible whether the C.B.C. is seriously planning to bring television services to the people of Tuktoyaktuk in the near future.

We thank you for your consideration and interest in our community.
