

Annual Report on the Activities of the Rental Officer

April 1, 2021, to March 31, 2022

Submitted by:
Adelle Guigon
Chief Rental Officer
August 18, 2022

NWT RENTAL OFFICE
BUREAU DU RÉGISSEUR DES TNO

Rapport annuel des activités de la Régie du logement

Du 1^{er} avril 2021 au 31 mars 2022

Soumis par:
Adelle Guigon,
régisseuse en chef,
le 18 août 2022

Le présent rapport contient un résumé en français.

Insert Official Languages Page Here (PDF)

CONTENTS

Executive Summary	4
Information Services	4
Dispute Resolution	4
Legislative Changes - COVID-19 Pandemic	5
Year in Review	10
Staffing	10
Office Location	10
Professional Development	11
Policies and Procedures	11
Statistics	16
Applications Heard	16
Applications Withdrawn or Dismissed	16
Remedies Provided to Landlords	17
Remedies Provided to Tenants	18
Termination and Eviction Orders	18
Monetary Compensation Ordered	19
Elapsed Time	19
Method of Hearing	20
Abandoned Personal Property	21
Issues	22
Authority to Rescind Previous Orders	22
Sections 58 and 59
Method of Termination of Tenancy	23
Section 51(4)
Termination of Subsidized
Public Housing Tenancy Agreements	24
Remedies for Improper Termination	27
Definition of Rent	28
Unlawful Distraint and Seizure	29
Section 91 Summary Offences	29
Assignment and Subletting	30
Roommates	30
Provision of Receipts	31
Transitional Housing	31
Appendix A	33

Executive Summary

The annual report on the activities of the Rental Officer is prepared pursuant to subsection 74.3(1) of the Residential Tenancies Act.

The Rental Office serves the Northwest Territories, providing information and dispute resolution services to landlords and tenants in residential tenancies in accordance with the Residential Tenancies Act and Residential Tenancies Regulations.

Information Services

The Rental Office is a convenient and accessible resource for landlords and tenants to obtain information regarding their rights and obligations. Many landlord-tenant disputes can be resolved by providing the parties with information clarifying their respective rights and responsibilities.

The Rental Office maintains a toll-free telephone number accessible from anywhere in Canada. The Rental Office provides written information to the public, including easy-to-read booklets and fact sheets detailing major aspects of the Residential Tenancies Act. Standard forms are also available in hard copy and on the Rental Office website. The website is maintained by the Department of Justice on behalf of the Rental Office, and includes links to the legislation and a searchable database of Rental Officer decisions.

The Rental Officer is also available upon request to make presentations or participate in forums with tenants, property managers, and others interested in residential tenancy issues. These information sessions are provided free of charge in recognition that informed landlords and tenants are more likely to respect each others' rights and obligations and are less likely to end up in a conflict situation.

Dispute Resolution

The Residential Tenancies Act specifically requires the Rental Officer to encourage landlords and tenants to attempt to resolve their disputes themselves. The provision of information regarding landlord and tenant rights and obligations is the first step for landlords and tenants to successfully reach their own resolution.

The Rental Office cannot provide direct advice to landlords and tenants for how to go about resolving their disputes. It is suggested that parties may wish to seek legal advice if they remain uncertain about how to proceed with resolving their dispute, including whether or not to file an application to a rental officer. To meet this need the Rental Office often provides contact information for the Outreach Legal Aid Clinic.

Where the parties are unable to resolve a dispute themselves, they may make an application to bring the matter to a hearing and have the dispute resolved by a Rental Officer. The majority of disputes require that an application be made for the Rental Officer to provide dispute resolution services.

A Rental Officer will dismiss an application when it is determined that the reasons for the application are trivial, frivolous, or vexatious, or that the application was not made in good faith. A Rental Officer will dismiss an application that has been made more than six months after the described situation arose, unless the Rental Officer is satisfied it would not be unfair to either party to grant an extension to the time for making the application. Otherwise, a hearing before the Rental Officer is scheduled for all applications.

In the event the parties resolve the dispute themselves before the Rental Officer makes a decision on the matter, the applicant may withdraw their application. In most cases the hearing proceeds as scheduled – either because the parties cannot agree or because one of the parties wants a decision which can be enforced if the other party fails to comply with its terms. The parties will have the opportunity at the hearing to present their respective cases and, after hearing the evidence and testimony of both parties, the Rental Officer will render a decision. A written order will follow.

Rental Officer orders are binding on the parties and can be made enforceable by filing them in the Registry of the Supreme Court of the Northwest Territories. Once filed, the order is deemed to be an order of the Supreme Court.

Legislative Changes - COVID-19 Pandemic

The COVID-19 coronavirus pandemic response which started in March 2020 continued until April 2022. The Rental Office continued to comply with various responses required by the Government of the Northwest Territories, remaining open to the public but respecting masking and sanitation requirements and scheduling hearings by three-way teleconference.

As will be seen in the statistics to follow, the total number of applications filed in the 2021-2022 fiscal year fell only marginally compared to the 2020-2021 fiscal year; this trend is a consistent result of the pandemic response. The anticipated increase in filed applications did not occur, but the slight decrease reflects a stabilization, given the extension of the pandemic response into the second year.

On April 9, 2020, the Residential Tenancies (COVID-19) Regulations (COVID-19 Regulations #1) came into effect. The COVID-19 Regulations #1 were created in response to concerns for the potential increase in homelessness as a result of tenants being unable to pay their rent due to the pandemic restrictions affecting their income. These regulations effectively prohibited the consideration of applications for termination orders when the tenant had given their landlord written notice that their income had been directly affected by the pandemic and they were unable to pay their rent as a result. The COVID-19 Regulations #1 did not forgive the rental arrears; rather they provided for the payment of the rental arrears to be deferred without risk of being evicted. At the same time, although not because of the COVID-19 Regulations #1, the Sheriff's Office temporarily suspended the execution of eviction orders.

On February 1, 2021, the Residential Tenancies (COVID-19) Regulations, No. 2 (COVID-19 Regulations #2) came into effect. The COVID-19 Regulations #1 were repealed effective January 31, 2021. The COVID-19 Regulations #2 were designed to evolve with the pandemic response and decrease the burden on the landlord by establishing a repayment plan option for the rental arrears accumulated between March 18, 2020, and January 31, 2021. Applications for termination orders due to rental arrears accumulated between those dates could not be considered where a COVID-19 Regulations #2 repayment plan had been given. The option to give a payment plan under the COVID-19 Regulations #2 ended February 1, 2022.

The extent of the uptake on the options offered under both Regulations are unclear as there is no reporting requirement to the Rental Office. The onus for notifying the landlord of the pandemic effect on a tenant's income was with the tenant. The onus for entering into a repayment plan was with either the landlord or the tenant. The Rental Office would not learn of the options being used until or unless an application to a rental officer was made. There were seven such applications made before January 31, 2021, which were stayed under the COVID-19 Regulations #1. One of those applications remains stayed under the COVID-19 Regulations #2. There have been no new applications made since the COVID-19 Regulations #2 came into effect.

Sommaire

Le Rapport annuel sur les activités du régisseur est préparé conformément au paragraphe 74.3(1) de la Loi sur la location des locaux d'habitation.

La Régie du logement sert les Territoires du Nord-Ouest en fournissant des services d'information et de résolution de différends aux locataires et aux locataires de locaux d'habitation, conformément à la Loi sur la location des locaux d'habitation et au Règlement sur la location des locaux d'habitation.

Services d'information

La Régie du logement est une ressource pratique et accessible offrant aux locataires et aux locataires des renseignements sur leurs droits et obligations. Bon nombre de différends sont résolus lorsque les deux parties sont clairement informées de leurs droits et responsabilités respectives.

La Régie du logement a un numéro de téléphone sans frais pour tout le Canada. Elle fournit de la documentation écrite à l'intention de la population, notamment des livrets et des fiches de renseignements accessibles qui résument les principaux aspects de la Loi sur la location des locaux d'habitation. Elle offre également des formulaires standard, en version papier et en version électronique sur son site Web. Ce dernier est tenu à jour par le ministère de la Justice et contient, entre autres choses, des liens vers les documents législatifs et une base de données interrogeable sur les décisions du régisseur.

Le régisseur peut, sur demande, faire des présentations ou participer à des forums réunissant des locataires, des gestionnaires d'immeubles et d'autres parties concernées par les questions de location. Ces services sont offerts gratuitement, car les locataires et locataires qui sont bien informés ont plus tendance à respecter les droits et obligations de chacun et sont moins susceptibles d'entrer en conflit.

Règlement des différends

La Loi sur la location des locaux d'habitation impose expressément au régisseur d'encourager les locataires et locataires à tenter de résoudre eux-mêmes leurs différends. L'offre d'information sur les droits et obligations de chacun est une première étape pour l'atteinte de cet objectif.

La Régie du logement ne peut conseiller directement les locataires et locataires sur la façon de régler leurs différends. On suggère aux parties d'obtenir un avis juridique si elles demeurent incertaines quant à la façon de procéder, notamment en ce qui concerne la pertinence de présenter une demande au régisseur. C'est pourquoi la Régie transmet souvent les coordonnées du service communautaire d'aide juridique.

Si les parties sont incapables de s'entendre, elles peuvent présenter une demande au régisseur, afin qu'il tienne audience et résolve le différend. La plupart du temps, une demande est nécessaire pour obtenir ce service.

La demande est rejetée si les motifs de la demande sont futiles, frivoles ou vexatoires ou que la demande est de mauvaise foi. Le régisseur refusera également toute demande présentée plus de six mois après que la situation a eu lieu, à moins qu'il ne soit convaincu qu'il ne serait pas injuste pour l'une ou l'autre des parties de prolonger le délai de présentation de la demande. Autrement, le régisseur planifie une audience pour tous les dossiers.

Si les parties règlent leur différend avant que le régisseur ait pris une décision, le demandeur peut retirer sa demande. Dans la plupart des cas, l'audience se tient comme prévu, soit parce que les parties ne parviennent pas à s'entendre, soit parce que l'une des parties veut une décision exécutoire en cas de non-respect de l'entente par l'autre partie. Les deux parties présentent alors leur dossier et leur témoignage, après quoi le régisseur rend une décision. Il publie ensuite une ordonnance écrite qui en précise les motifs.

Les ordonnances du régisseur lient les parties et peuvent être rendues exécutoires par leur dépôt à la Cour suprême des Territoires du Nord-Ouest; elles sont alors considérées comme des ordonnances prononcées par ce tribunal.

Changements législatifs - Pandémie de COVID-19

Des mesures ont été prises pour lutter contre la pandémie de COVID-19 dès mars 2020, et ont été prolongées jusqu'en avril 2022. La Régie du logement a continué de se conformer aux consignes du gouvernement des Territoires du Nord-Ouest (GTNO); les locaux de la Régie sont restés ouverts au public, dans le respect des exigences sanitaires, dont le port du masque, et des téléconférences tripartites ont été organisées à la place des audiences en personne.

Comme en témoignent les statistiques suivantes, le nombre total de demandes reçues au cours de l'exercice 2021?2022 a à peine baissé par rapport à l'exercice 2020?2021; un résultat cohérent face à la pandémie. L'augmentation prévue du nombre de demandes déposées n'a pas eu lieu, mais cette légère diminution reflète une certaine stabilisation, compte tenu de la prolongation des mesures de lutte contre la pandémie en 2022.

Le 9 avril 2020, le Règlement sur la location (COVID?19) des locaux d'habitation (Règlement COVID?19 no 1) est entré en vigueur. Le Règlement COVID?19 no 1 a été établi pour répondre à la potentielle hausse d'itinérance découlant de l'incapacité des locataires à s'acquitter de leur loyer, leur revenu ayant reculé à cause des restrictions de la pandémie. Ce règlement a efficacement bloqué l'examen des demandes d'ordonnances de résiliation lorsque le locataire avait donné au locateur un avis écrit indiquant que son revenu avait reculé à cause de la pandémie et qu'il était, par conséquent, incapable de s'acquitter de son loyer. Le Règlement COVID?19 no 1 n'a pas supprimé les arriérés de loyer; il prévoyait plutôt d'en reporter le paiement sans risque d'expulsion. Parallèlement, mais sans lien avec le règlement, le Bureau du shérif a temporairement suspendu l'exécution des ordonnances d'éviction.

Le 1er février 2021, le second Règlement sur la location (COVID?19) des locaux d'habitation (Règlement no 2 COVID?19) est entré en vigueur. Le règlement COVID?19 no 1 a été abrogé le 31 janvier 2021. Le Règlement COVID?19 no 2 a été conçu pour évoluer parallèlement à la lutte contre la COVID-19 et diminuer la charge du locateur en établissant une option de programme de remboursement pour les arriérés de loyer accumulés entre le 18 mars 2020 et le 31 janvier 2021. L'exécution d'un programme de remboursement du Règlement COVID?19 no 2 proscrivait donc le traitement des demandes d'ordonnances de résiliation découlant des arriérés de loyer accumulés entre ces dates. Il n'est plus possible de recourir à cette option depuis le 1er février 2022.

On ignore combien de personnes ont bénéficié des options offertes par les deux règlements, car il n'y a pas d'obligations de rapporter ces données à la Régie du logement. Il incombe au locataire d'informer le locateur de l'effet de la pandémie sur ses revenus. L'exécution d'un programme de remboursement revient soit au locateur, soit au locataire. Pour que la Régie du logement connaisse les options utilisées, il faut qu'une demande soit faite auprès d'un régisseur. Sept demandes de ce type ont été faites avant le 31 janvier 2021 et ont été suspendues en vertu du Règlement COVID-19 no 1. Une de ces demandes reste suspendue en vertu du Règlement COVID-19 no 2. Aucune nouvelle demande n'a été faite depuis l'entrée en vigueur du Règlement COVID-19 no 2.

Year in Review

Staffing

The Rental Office is currently served by an Office Administrator, the Chief Rental Officer, and two Rental Officers.

Adelle Guigon has been a Rental Officer since April 1, 2013, and the Chief Rental Officer since April 1, 2016. Hal Logsdon returned as a part-time Rental Officer in January 2018. Janice Laycock began as a part-time Rental Officer in January 2019.

Roxanne Penney joined the Rental Office as a term employee in the Rental Office Administrator position in January 2021. Her term was extended to March 2022 to ensure coverage was provided while interviewing for an indeterminate replacement. Ms. Penney's assistance was greatly appreciated as she offered a compassionate and professional service to the Rental Office clientele.

Julie Hodge was the successful candidate for the indeterminate Rental Office Administrator position and joined the Rental Office team in March 2022. She brings to the position valuable paralegal experience and has had an immediate positive impact on the administrative operations at the Rental Office. The majority of the administrative tasks the Chief Rental Officer took over during the transitional staffing issues over the last two years have been returned to Ms. Hodge's capable hands. We look forward to a long and productive working relationship with Ms. Hodge.

Office Location

The Rental Office is located on the third floor of the YK Centre East building in Yellowknife. This location provides for two offices in addition to the office administrator's work space, enhanced on-site storage, and a security conscious front counter area to address safety and security concerns. Although the space remains a tight fit, we are optimistic that with the implementation of and support for electronic storage of materials we will be able to further relieve some congestion over time. However, the current administration space layout does not provide for either an adequate secondary work station or sufficient workspace. A request has been made and discussed to re-design and re-organize the administrative area to provide for two work stations in an open concept for an ergonomically appropriate workspace.

The current office location also does not provide for a dedicated hearing room. Whenever a space is required to hold hearings for parties to appear in person, the Rental Office reserves whatever suitable boardroom is available. This is not an issue for hearings in communities other than Yellowknife, but the vast majority of in-person hearings are held in Yellowknife. The in-person hearings in Yellowknife are usually booked in the boardrooms of other departments, in buildings other than where the Rental Office is located. Although in-person hearings were replaced with telephone hearings during the pandemic, with the lifting of restrictions in April 2022 the Rental Office has again started scheduling in-person docket days.

Although there is no cost to the Rental Office for using GNWT boardrooms, it is inconvenient and time consuming for the Rental Officer to leave the office for hearings within Yellowknife. The accumulated time spent travelling between locations effectively results in an inefficient use of resources. Having a dedicated hearing room directly attached to the Rental Office would provide for increased productivity. On days when there are no hearings scheduled, the room could be utilized as an additional office space for one of the Rental Officers, or for meetings with the public and other stakeholders.

The re-introduction of in-person hearings in Yellowknife brings the issue of a dedicated hearing room back to the forefront. Although not an immediate priority, the requested Rental Office renovations are included in the department's five-year capital plan.

Professional Development

As an Associate Member of the Canadian Council of Administrative Tribunals (CCAT), I usually participate in their Annual Symposiums. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the 36th Annual Symposium was cancelled. The CCAT did introduce virtual workshops, webinars, and courses throughout the year, but I was unable to participate due to the workload and staffing issues experienced at the Rental Office. The 37th Annual Symposium was also restructured to provide panels in a weekly webinar format. Again due to the workload and staffing issues, I was only able to participate in one of the offered panels.

Policies and Procedures

As previously mentioned and will be seen in the following statistics, the number of applications filed in the 2021-2022 fiscal year has decreased by another 2.4 percent from the 35 percent decrease experienced in the 2020-2021 fiscal year, again as a direct result of the pandemic response. The percentage of orders issued regarding complex issues experienced only a marginal decrease overall, but the complexities continue to require more time spent on hearings and producing written reasons for decision. Despite the slight decrease in the number of applications filed, the number of applications heard in the 2021-2022 fiscal year increased by 9.6 percent. Some of this increase can be attributed to a carry over of applications filed in the prior fiscal year. Otherwise these numbers are proportional to the effects of the pandemic response.

The wait times between the date an application is filed and the date it is heard have largely remained consistent over the last several years. These wait times cannot be further improved given the responsibility to ensure the Respondent has a fair amount of time to prepare a defense to the allegations prior to the scheduled hearing date and the legislated timelines for service of documents.

The Office Administrator's workload remains reasonably balanced at this time. Revamping and rewriting of procedures has been completed, although there remains further administrative changes being pursued to modernize operations. The effects of the pandemic response and transitional staffing issues interfered with the progress on requested technological upgrades, however I am cautiously optimistic that the Rental Office remains on the department's priority list to implement the upgrades within the next two years.

Résumé de l'exercice

Dotation en personnel

Actuellement, le personnel de la Régie du logement se compose d'une administratrice, de la régisseuse en chef et de deux régisseurs.

Adelle Guigon occupe le poste de régisseuse en chef depuis le 1er avril 2016; elle occupait auparavant celui de régisseuse depuis le 1er avril 2013. Hal Logsdon a repris du service en janvier 2018 en acceptant d'assumer un poste de régisseur à temps partiel. En janvier 2019, Janice Laycock s'est jointe à l'équipe de la Régie du logement à titre de régisseuse à temps partiel.

En janvier 2021, Roxanne Penney a été engagée en tant qu'administratrice, et ce, pour une durée déterminée. Son mandat a été prolongé jusqu'en mars 2022 pour garantir que ce poste soit occupé jusqu'à ce qu'un employé permanent soit choisi pour la remplacer. Nous avons grandement apprécié l'aide de Mme Penney, elle a su offrir un service professionnel et empreint d'empathie à la clientèle de la Régie.

Julie Hodge a été retenue pour le poste permanent d'administratrice en mars 2022. Apportant une précieuse expérience parajuridique, elle a eu une incidence positive immédiate sur les opérations administratives de la Régie du logement. La majorité des tâches administratives prises en charge par la régisseuse en chef lors des problèmes de dotation des deux dernières années a été remise entre les mains compétentes de Mme Hodge. Nous nous réjouissons de pouvoir établir une relation de travail productive avec elle, et ce, sur le long terme.

Adresse du bureau

La Régie du logement se situe au troisième étage de l'immeuble Est du YK Centre de Yellowknife. Elle y dispose de deux bureaux, d'un espace de travail pour l'administratrice et d'un espace de conservation des documents amélioré, et un comptoir d'accueil permet d'assurer la sécurité. Bien que nous soyons encore à l'étroit, nous avons bon espoir que la mise en place d'un système de stockage numérique des documents et l'aide fournie à cet égard nous permettront de désencombrer l'espace petit à petit. Toutefois, l'aménagement actuel des locaux de l'administration ne permet pas d'installer un poste de travail secondaire adéquat. Une demande a été présentée et examinée pour réaménager et réorganiser l'espace afin d'accueillir deux postes de travail supplémentaires selon un concept ouvert afin d'obtenir un espace de travail ergonomique.

La Régie du logement n'a pas accès à une salle d'audience. Chaque fois qu'une salle est nécessaire pour la tenue d'une audience en personne, la Régie du logement réserve l'une des salles de conférence disponibles. Ce n'est pas un problème pour les audiences dans les collectivités autres que Yellowknife; la grande majorité des audiences en personne ont cependant lieu dans la capitale. À Yellowknife, les audiences en personne ont généralement lieu dans une salle d'un autre ministère, située dans un autre immeuble que le nôtre. Bien que les audiences en personne aient été remplacées par des audiences par téléphone pendant la pandémie, nous avons repris les rencontres en personne en avril 2022, à la suite de la levée des restrictions.

S'il n'en coûte rien à la Régie du logement d'utiliser les salles du GTNO, les déplacements de la régisseuse pour se rendre aux audiences dans Yellowknife sont peu pratiques et chronophages. Les pertes de temps entre ces différents endroits représentent un usage inefficace des ressources. Disposer d'une salle affectée aux audiences, sur le site même des bureaux de la Régie du logement, permettrait d'accroître notre productivité : les jours où aucune audience n'est prévue, la salle pourrait être utilisée comme bureau supplémentaire pour l'un des régisseurs, ou comme salle de conférence pour des réunions avec le public ou d'autres parties prenantes.

La reprise des audiences en personne à Yellowknife remet la question d'une salle d'audience dédiée sur le devant de la scène. Bien qu'il ne s'agisse pas d'une priorité immédiate, la rénovation des locaux est incluse dans le plan d'immobilisations quinquennal du ministère.

Perfectionnement professionnel

En tant que membre associé du Conseil des tribunaux administratifs canadiens (CTAC), je participe habituellement aux symposiums annuels. Or, en raison de la pandémie de COVID-19, le 36e symposium annuel a été annulé. Le CTAC a mis en place des ateliers virtuels, des webinaires et des cours tout au long de l'année, mais je n'ai pas pu y participer en raison de la charge de travail et des problèmes de personnel auxquels la Régie du logement a été confrontée. Le 37e symposium annuel a également été remodelé pour proposer des webinaires hebdomadaires. Encore une fois, en raison de la charge de travail et des problèmes de personnel, je n'ai pu assister qu'à un seul des panels proposés.

Politiques et procédures

Comme cela a été mentionné précédemment et comme le montrent les statistiques suivantes, le nombre de demandes déposées au cours de l'exercice fiscal 2021-2022 a encore diminué de 2,4 %, en plus de la baisse de 35 % enregistrée au cours de l'exercice 2020-2021; il s'agit là encore d'une conséquence directe de la crise de la COVID-19. Le pourcentage d'ordonnances concernant des cas complexes n'a connu, dans l'ensemble, qu'une diminution marginale, mais ces derniers continuent d'être chronophages, particulièrement en ce qui concerne les audiences et la rédaction des motifs de décision. Bien que le nombre de demandes déposées ait baissé, le nombre de demandes traitées pendant l'exercice 2021-2022 a augmenté de 9,6 % par rapport à l'exercice précédent. Une partie de cette augmentation peut être attribuée au report des demandes déposées au cours de l'exercice précédent; autrement, ces chiffres s'alignent sur les mesures prises pour lutter contre la pandémie.

Les temps d'attente entre la date de dépôt d'une demande et la date d'audience sont restés constants par rapport à ceux des années précédentes et ne peuvent pas être améliorés davantage étant donné qu'il faut s'assurer que l'intimé dispose d'un délai raisonnable pour préparer une défense aux allégations avant la date d'audience prévue et compte tenu des délais légaux pour la signification des documents.

La charge de travail de l'administratrice du bureau reste raisonnablement équilibrée à l'heure actuelle. Le remaniement et la réécriture des procédures sont terminés, mais d'autres changements administratifs sont en cours pour moderniser les opérations. La pandémie et les problèmes transitoires de personnel ont entravé les mises à niveau technologiques demandées, mais je suis prudemment optimiste quant au fait que ces dernières restent une des priorités du ministère lors des deux prochaines années.

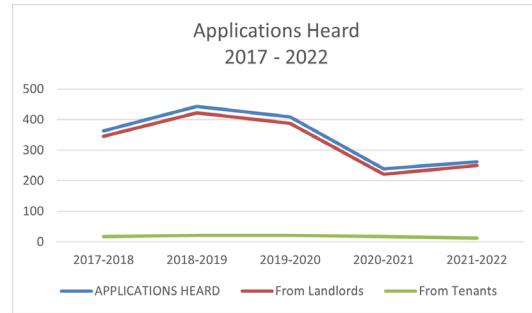

Statistics

The total number of applications filed in the 2021-2022 fiscal year represents a 2.4 percent reduction which remains directly attributable to the pandemic response. Of the 290 applications filed in the 2021-2022 fiscal year, 59.7 percent of them were regarding subsidized public housing tenancies. Landlords filed 94 percent of the applications and tenants filed 6 percent, representing a 2.4 percent decrease for landlords and 2.4 percent increase for tenants over the last fiscal year.

Applications Heard

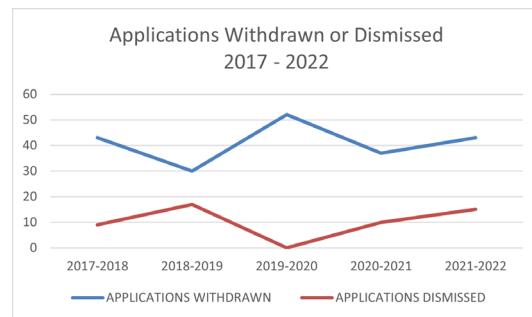

The number of applications that were heard in the 2021-2022 fiscal year increased by 9.6 percent compared to the 2020-2021 fiscal year. This is a significant reversal from the 2020-2021 decrease of 41.6 percent directly attributable to the pandemic response. It remains important to note that files scheduled for more than one hearing date (i.e. adjourned or postponed) are not reflected in these numbers. While 262 files were heard in the 2021-2022 fiscal year, 22.1 percent of them had been scheduled for more than one hearing date, and 14 of those were filed in the 2020-2021 fiscal year.

Applications Withdrawn or Dismissed

Applications withdrawn by the applicant increased by 2.3 percent in the 2021-2022 fiscal year over the 2020-2021 fiscal year. Applications dismissed by the Rental Officer increased over the same period by 1.8 percent.

Applications are usually withdrawn by the applicant when the dispute has been resolved by the parties prior to the hearing being held. Applications are usually dismissed by the Rental Officer when the applicant fails to serve the filed application on the respondent, the applicant fails to appear at a scheduled hearing, or the application has been filed outside the six-month time limitation set out in the Act.

As in previous years, the 2021-2022 numbers for withdrawn applications remain consistent in suggesting that more landlords and tenants are resolving their disputes themselves, negating the need for a hearing. That being said, in most cases – particularly with major landlords – even when the parties have come to an agreement about a situation, the applicant will often choose to continue seeking an order that they can enforce if the respondent does not comply with the agreement.

Remedies Provided to Landlords

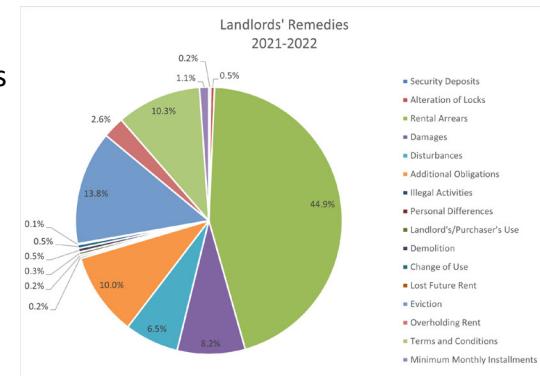

Applications filed by landlords continue to represent the majority of filed applications, and the majority of those applications continue to primarily involve claims for rental arrears, particularly into this second pandemic year. The majority of the claims for rental arrears continued to be undisputed or undefended by the tenants.

Although most of the claims for damages and disturbances are undisputed by tenants, the previously identified trend continues to emerge with more tenants disputing the claims. These applications are treated as complex from the outset and more time is set aside to hear and consider those matters.

The landlords' success rate compared to last fiscal year in obtaining orders regarding rental arrears remained relatively consistent with a marginal increase by 1.8 percent. The landlord success rate in obtaining orders regarding additional obligations increased by 0.4 percent, and orders regarding damages and disturbances decreased by 1.6 percent and 3.3 percent, respectively. It is worth noting that many applications continue to be made in relation to multiple breaches.

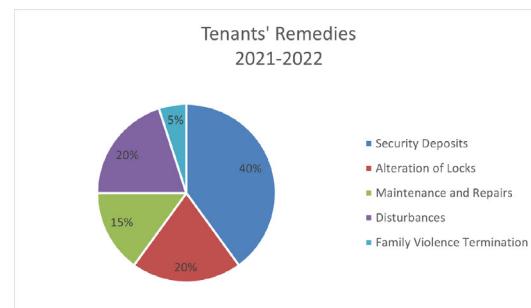

Additional obligations include claims regarding the failure of tenants to maintain the ordinary cleanliness of the rental premises. Other common additional obligations include failing to report household income for subsidized public housing tenancies and failing to pay for utilities.

Applications to terminate tenancies for the landlord's or purchaser's use as a residence for themselves or their immediate family members decreased in 2021-2022 with three orders being issued. There were four applications made to terminate tenancies for demolition of the rental premises and four made for change of use to something other than a rental premises. No applications were made to terminate a tenancy for extensive repairs or renovations to the rental premises.

Remedies Provided to Tenants

Tenant applications remain primarily about security deposits, of which this year eight were successful. Four tenants were successful in obtaining orders against their landlords regarding improper alteration of locks. Three tenants were successful in obtaining orders against their landlords regarding lack of maintenance or repairs to the rental premises. Four tenants were successful in obtaining orders against their landlords regarding disturbances. There was one successful application to terminate the tenancy due to family violence.

I would note that while the Rental Office receives many inquiries from tenants regarding the landlord's obligations under section 30 of the Act, very few tenants follow through with making an application to a rental officer regarding those issues. This is likely due to the amount of work the tenant would be required to do to provide reasonable evidence to support their claim, although it is possible the tenants and landlords resolved the disputes themselves. That there were any applications for this issue in the 2021-2022 fiscal year is an improvement.

Termination and Eviction Orders

In 2021-2022, the number of orders issued terminating a tenancy agreement at the request of the landlord increased by 29.6 percent over the last fiscal year, representing 53.4 percent of all applications heard. The number of eviction orders issued also increased, by 35.2 percent, representing 36.3 percent of all applications heard. These results reflect a slow return to pre-pandemic practices.

Landlords may apply for both an order terminating a tenancy agreement and evicting a tenant in one application. The eviction order expires six months after the date it takes effect, unless it is filed in the Registry of the Supreme Court of the Northwest Territories within that time frame.

Both termination orders and eviction orders may contain conditions which act to invalidate the order if the conditions are met. An eviction order may be issued to only take effect if the conditions of the termination order are not met. Conditional termination and eviction orders are more common for subsidized public housing tenancies than for private housing tenancies.

The majority of eviction orders were issued in conjunction with termination orders, and 63.8 percent of those were conditional termination and eviction orders. This is a decrease of about 3.8 percent compared to last fiscal year, attributable to the pandemic response in that the percentage of unconditional termination orders increased proportionally.

Monetary Compensation Ordered

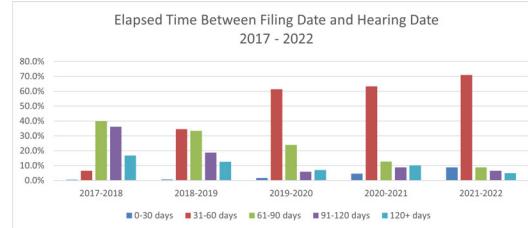

In the 2021-2022 fiscal year, 205 orders granted monetary compensation representing 78.5 percent of all orders issued; this is a slight decrease of 1.4 percent from the 2020-2021 fiscal year. The average value of monetary compensation ordered amounted to $5,933, which is an increase of 41.4 percent from the previous fiscal year.

Although we do not keep a breakdown of the monetary values ordered by reason, the majority of the compensation ordered continues to primarily consist of rental arrears with costs of repairs remaining a distant second. I expect the costs of repairs have continued to increase during the second half of the pandemic response period.

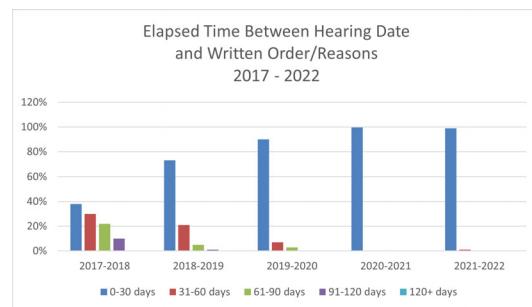

Elapsed Time

The length of time between the date an application is filed and the date it is heard depends on a number of factors, many of which are outside the control of the Rental Office. Once the application is filed, the matter is scheduled for a hearing and the applicant must serve a copy of the filed application and notice of attendance on the respondent. The application package must be received by the respondent at least five business days before the hearing date, or as otherwise specified by the Rental Officer, and the applicant must provide proof of service of the application package to the Rental Office no later than five business days before the scheduled hearing date. If this minimum requirement is not met, the hearing will be rescheduled to a later date to ensure the respondent is served with sufficient time to prepare an answer to the claims in the application.

In the 2021-2022 fiscal year, 79.7 percent of hearings were held within 60 days of the application being filed in the Rental Office. This is an increase of 30 percent over the prior fiscal year.

The issuance of written reasons for decision is discretionary on the presiding Rental Officer where those reasons for decision have been rendered on the oral record. This discretion has improved the average turn-around time for issuing written orders, however, written reasons are always issued for complex matters and those reasons usually take longer to write.

This fiscal year 100 percent of all written orders and reasons for decision were written within 60 days of the hearing date, with 98.9 percent being written within 30 days. On average, all written orders and reasons for decision were produced within 6 days of the date of decision. Three decisions were reserved and required more than 30 days to write. Reserved decisions can sometimes take substantially longer to write if the decision is pending receipt of additional evidence from the parties or is of a particularly complex nature.

Method of Hearing

There are three ways a hearing may be held: in-person, by teleconference, or by three-way teleconference. Hearings by written submission were introduced in April 2019 specifically for applications made under sections 58 and 59 of the Act.

Hearings in Yellowknife and Behchoko are usually held in person. In-person hearings in other communities are only held when a significant number of applications are made at approximately the same time.

Teleconference hearings are scheduled in communities where there is more than one but fewer than ten applications filed at approximately the same time; a hearing room will be rented in the community for the parties to attend to in person, and the Rental Officer will call in from Yellowknife.

Three-way teleconference hearings are scheduled for the hearing of single applications. This method could be used either because the parties reside in different communities, because there is only one application to be heard in the community, or because a party has left the jurisdiction.

During the two-year pandemic period, all hearings were scheduled by default to be heard by three-way teleconference. In-person hearings were only considered when specifically requested by a party for accessibility to justice reasons and if a suitable venue was available to accommodate compliance with the Chief Public Health Officer's orders and recommendations and WSCC's rules for social distancing in the work place. When the pandemic restrictions were lifted in April 2022, it was decided to keep the default method of hearings by three-way teleconference given the successes of that method. However, in-person hearings will again be considered where at least 10 applications are received at the same time for the same community, including Yellowknife.

All hearings in the 2021-2022 fiscal year were held by three-way teleconference, except for six files which were heard by written submission.

Abandoned Personal Property

The process for handling and disposition of abandoned personal property by the landlord is set out under sections 64 and 65 of the Act. An application is not required to be made under those sections, but there are requirements to report to and request permission from the Rental Officer when dealing with any abandoned personal property of value.

There were 10 inventories of abandoned personal property reported to the Rental Officer in the 2021-2022 fiscal year, and 5 authorizations from the Rental Officer to dispose of stored abandoned personal property. There were no submissions of proceeds of the sale of abandoned personal property.

If the owner of abandoned personal property believes the landlord has wrongfully sold, disposed of, or otherwise dealt with any of the abandoned personal property, they may make an application to a rental officer to hear the arguments and make a determination under section 66 of the Act. There were no such applications this fiscal year.

Issues

Authority to Rescind Previous Orders

Subsections 84(1) and 84(2) of the Act permit the Rental Officer to make an order for monetary compensation which includes a minimum monthly payment plan. Subsection 84(3) permits the Rental Officer to rescind that order and replace it with an order to pay any compensation still owing from the previous order in a lump sum. There are no provisions in the Act authorizing the Rental Officer to rescind any other types of orders.

In situations where the circumstances of a dispute have changed after the issuance of an order, effectively making any part of that order unnecessary or excessive, there is no avenue for a Rental Officer to rescind or replace the previously issued order.

A primary example occurs when an order has been issued for a tenant in subsidized public housing to pay unsubsidized rent because they have failed to report their household income in accordance with their tenancy agreement. As soon as the tenant reports that household income (after the order has been issued) the landlord recalculates the rent to account for eligible subsidies, and as a result the quantum of rental arrears drops substantially. The original order, however, remains in effect and enforceable for payment of the rental arrears at the much higher value. In this regularly recurring scenario it would be most efficient for all concerned if the Rental Officer could rescind and replace the previous order with an order that reflected the adjusted rental arrears.

Another common example is when an order has been issued for payment of rental arrears, the order gets filed with the Supreme Court but is not enforced, the tenant accumulates additional rental arrears, and the landlord files another application requesting an order for payment of the new balance of rental arrears. When a Certificate of Satisfaction has not been entered at the Supreme Court regarding the previous order, that order remains active and enforceable. Usually, the Rental Officer will account for the active status of the previous order and issue a new order for the difference between the current balance and the amount of the previous order. Again, it would seem to be more efficient to rescind the previous order and replace it with a new order reflecting the current balance of rental arrears.

I would request continued consideration of an amendment to the Act permitting the Rental Officer to rescind previously issued monetary orders. I am aware that the Department of Justice had put some thought towards this request given that it has been made in previous annual reports, and I am aware that it would likely require a more complex legislative change than initially anticipated. Despite the complexity, I appreciate the Department's efforts to address this request. I also appreciate that during the pandemic response this issue is unlikely to be a current priority for the legislation division to review.

To be clear, I am not suggesting an amendment that would authorize a Rental Officer to review Rental Officer decisions; to my mind such reviews should remain in the realm of the Supreme Court of the Northwest Territories. Rather, I am suggesting only an amendment to authorize a Rental Officer to re-assess monetary values of arrears at a hearing under a new application and to rescind previously issued monetary orders as appropriate to accommodate the issuance of a replacement monetary order. The decision itself made at the previous hearing would not be open to reconsideration; only the monetary value of the arrears themselves would be open to re-evaluation.

Sections 58 and 59

Method of Termination of Tenancy

Sections 58 and 59 of the Act provide for the landlord to make an application for an order to terminate a tenancy agreement where:

- the landlord requires possession of the rental premises for use as a residence by himself and/or his immediate family members;
- the landlord has entered into an agreement of sale of the property which requires delivery of vacant possession of the rental premises for use as a residence by the purchaser and/or their immediate family members;
- the landlord requires possession to demolish the property;
- the landlord requires possession to change the use of the property to other than a rental property; or
- the landlord requires vacant possession to make repairs or renovations so extensive as to require a building permit.

In the case where the landlord has sold the property, the landlord must provide proof of the sale and confirmation from the purchaser of their intended personal use of the premises as a residence. In the case where the landlord intends to demolish the rental premises, change the use, or make extensive repairs or renovations, the landlord must prove that they have obtained all the necessary permits or other authorizations that may be required.

Usually the Rental Office does not receive many applications under sections 58 and 59, although there has been an increase in both calls for information and applications filed under these sections since the COVID-19 pandemic began. The best case scenario which is encouraged by this office is for the Landlord and Tenant to negotiate a mutually agreeable termination date and to put that agreement in writing in accordance with section 50 of the Act. This scenario is often not an option, usually due to the parties being unable to agree to the aforementioned mutually agreeable termination date.

The requirement to make an application to a rental officer to terminate a tenancy when the parties are unable to come to an agreement is often seen by landlords as an onerous and unnecessary process. I suspect many landlords bank on their tenants not knowing that the landlord is obligated to make an application if they can't come to an agreement. However, the Rental Office has also been receiving more inquiries from tenants who are questioning whether or not their landlord is treating them in accordance with the Act.

I agree that going through the application process for these circumstances is largely unnecessary, even within the continuing pandemic response. Often tenants voluntarily vacate the rental premises after being served with the filed application, resulting in the landlord withdrawing the application before the scheduled hearing. The requirement to file an application before it is necessary creates an administrative burden on both the applying landlord and the Rental Office.

To my mind it would be sufficient for the landlord to give the tenant written notice to terminate the tenancy in accordance with the established time frames, along with copies of the required documents proving the reasons for the termination. The tenant could still have the option to vacate early as currently provided for under subsections 58(2) and 59(2), or the landlord and tenant could still exercise their option under section 50 to agree in writing to a termination date. If the tenant does not vacate the rental premises by the termination date, or the landlord does not believe that the tenant will vacate the rental premises by the termination date, the landlord could then file an application for an eviction order. The tenant would have the opportunity at the hearing regarding the application for eviction to challenge the validity of the landlord's notice to terminate the tenancy.

I would request consideration of an amendment to sections 58 and 59 of the Act to allow landlords to terminate tenancies in the described circumstances by giving the tenants advance written notice in accordance with the established timelines.

Section 51(4)

Termination of Subsidized

Public Housing Tenancy Agreements ---

Subsidized public housing landlords benefit from several specific provisions in the Act. Most appear reasonable given the nature of subsidized public housing tenancies. Subsection 51(4) to my mind is the exception.

Subsection 51(4) of the Act specifies that subsidized public housing fixed-term tenancy agreements of 31 days or less terminate on the specified end date. The specificity of the termination of this type of tenancy agreement under this section renders it exempt from the automatic renewal provisions under subsection 49(1) at paragraph 49(2)(b).

Subsection 51(4) says:

51. (4) Notwithstanding subsection (3), where a tenancy agreement for subsidized public housing specifies a date for termination of the agreement that is 31 days or less after the commencement of the agreement, it terminates on the specified date.

Section 49 says:

49. (1) Where a tenancy agreement ends on a specific date, the landlord and tenant are deemed to renew the tenancy agreement on that date as a monthly tenancy with the same rights and obligations as existed under the former tenancy agreement, subject to any rent increase that complies with section 47.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply
 - (a) where the landlord and tenant have entered into a new tenancy agreement;
 - (b) where the tenancy has been terminated in accordance with this Act; or
 - (c) to rental premises provided by an employer to an employee as a benefit of employment. [emphasis mine]

In my experience to date, 31-day-or-less fixed-term tenancy agreements appear to be used less frequently by subsidized public housing landlords than was the case some years ago. However, when I have learned about their use it seems to be with a punitive purpose involving multiple back-to-back 31-day-or-less fixed-term tenancy agreements. Usually the landlord in these situations will effectively hold the consecutive termination dates over the tenant's head in an attempt to control their behaviour. Because section 51(4) of the Act simply terminates the tenancy agreement without any cause being necessary, the tenant does not benefit from an opportunity to dispute the termination. To my mind, section 51(4) operates contrary to the security of tenure principles otherwise provided for throughout the legislation.

Subsidized public housing landlords already benefit from subsections 51(3) and 51(5) of the Act, which allow them to give a tenant at least 30 days' written notice to terminate a tenancy agreement for the last day of a period of the month-to-month tenancy or the last day of a fixed-term tenancy. The subsidized public housing landlord may exercise this option whether or not there is cause to terminate the tenancy agreement (i.e. the tenant has breached an obligation), and they are not required to apply for an order to terminate the tenancy. If the tenant refuses to leave the rental premises after being given a notice under either of these sections, then the landlord would be required to apply for an order to evict the tenant, which in turns gives the tenant the opportunity to dispute whether or not the tenancy was terminated in accordance with the Act. Other landlords do not have the benefit of subsections 51(3) and 51(5) of the Act; they must apply for an order to terminate a tenancy agreement for cause.

Subsidized public housing landlords also benefit from the provisions under paragraph 57(b) of the Act, which allows the landlord to apply for an order to terminate the tenancy agreement where the tenant has ceased to meet the requirement for occupancy of the rental premises. This is a reasonable provision that requires the landlord to prove how the tenant no longer meets the eligibility requirements and provides the tenant with an opportunity to dispute the landlord's claim.

Along with other landlords, subsidized public housing landlords also have the option to employ subsection 54(1) of the Act, which provides for a landlord to give a tenant at least 10 days' written notice to terminate a tenancy agreement under specific circumstances. Commonly used circumstances include where the tenant has repeatedly and unreasonably caused disturbances, where the tenant's actions (or lack thereof) have seriously impaired the landlord's or other tenants' safety, or the tenant has repeatedly failed to pay the full amount of rent when due. The landlord exercising the notice provided for under this section is also required to apply for an order terminating the tenancy agreement. Consequently, if the tenant wishes to dispute the reasons given for terminating the tenancy agreement under section 54 they will have the opportunity to do so at a hearing before the Rental Officer.

No matter which section of the Act is relied on to terminate a tenancy, the landlord cannot forcibly remove a tenant from the rental premises without an eviction order issued by the Rental Officer. Even if the tenancy agreement is terminated under subsections 51(3), 51(4), or 51(5), if the tenant does not voluntarily vacate the rental premises the subsidized public housing landlord will have to file an application to a rental officer seeking an eviction order. Subsection 63(5) of the Act provides for the reinstatement of the tenancy where the Rental Officer denies an application for eviction as unjustified specific to when the tenancy was terminated under subsections 51(3) or 51(5), which allows for the Rental Officer to consider the reasons why the landlord terminated the tenancy. Tenancies terminated under subsection 51(4) are not included under subsection 63(5), which means there is no real avenue to consider why the tenancy was not renewed.

The Rental Office does have an expedited hearing dates policy which provides for an application to be heard within a short period of time after an application is filed. Written requests for expedited hearing dates will only be considered where immediate and/or emergency safety concerns exist, and a significant risk of harm to the landlord, tenant, other tenants in the residential complex, and/or the property is evident.

Subsection 51(4) strikes me as unnecessary, redundant, and excessive, providing an unreasonable amount of power to subsidized public housing landlords. I would request that consideration be given to repealing subsection 51(4) of the Act.

Remedies for Improper Termination

Subsections 51(2) and 52(2) permit a landlord who has rented out their only residence in the Northwest Territories to terminate the tenancy agreement by giving the tenant at least 30 days' advance written notice to terminate a fixed-term tenancy on the last day of the fixed-term or at least 90 days' advance written notice to terminate a month-to-month tenancy on the last day of a given month. The landlord in these cases is not required to make an application for an order to terminate the tenancy.

As previously mentioned, section 54 of the Act provides for a landlord to give a tenant at least 10 days' advance written notice to terminate a tenancy agreement where the tenant has committed a substantial breach of their obligations as specified under that section. Section 54 requires the landlord who gives this notice to file an application to a rental officer for an order to terminate the tenancy.

Again as noted previously, sections 58 and 59 of the Act each provide for a landlord to terminate a tenancy agreement for specific reasons other than the tenant breaching an obligation by making an application to a rental officer for an order to terminate the tenancy. Service of the filed application on the tenant effectively constitutes notice to the tenant of the landlord's desire to terminate the tenancy, and the tenant has the option to either voluntarily vacate the rental premises before the anticipated termination date or to appear at the hearing to have their say in the matter.

Section 60 of the Act provides for a tenant whose tenancy is terminated under section 58 or 59 to apply for compensation for losses suffered where it turns out the landlord did not in good faith require the rental premises for the purpose specified in the application.

There have been instances (and likely more than I am aware of) where a tenant who was not given proper notice to terminate the tenancy under the referenced sections 51, 52, and 54 has vacated the rental premises under duress and despite disagreeing with the reasons for the termination and/or the inconvenience of an unexpected move on short notice. These tenants have no recourse to recover losses suffered because there are no remedies provided in the Act for a tenant to make such a claim.

I would request consideration of amendments to the Act to provide for remedies similar to those provided for under section 60 to a tenant who suffers monetary losses when a landlord fails to provide proper notice to terminate a tenancy agreement in accordance with sections 51, 52, and 54 of the Act.

Definition of Rent

Subsection 1(1) of the Act defines “rent” as including:

the amount of any consideration paid or required to be paid by a tenant to a landlord or his or her agent for the right to occupy rental premises and for any services and facilities, privilege, accommodation or thing that the landlord provides for the tenant in respect of his or her occupancy of the rental premises, whether or not a separate charge is made for the services and facilities, privilege, accommodation or thing; [emphasis mine]

The above emphasized statement creates a paradox in relation to subsections 47(1) and 47(2) regarding rent increases, which say:

47. (1) Notwithstanding a change in landlord, no landlord shall increase the rent in respect of a rental premises until 12 months have expired from
 - (a) the date the last increase in rent for the rental premises became effective; or
 - (b) the date on which rent was first charged, where the rental premises have not been previously rented.
- (2) The landlord shall give the tenant notice of the rent increase in writing at least three months before the date the rent increase is to be effective.
[emphasis mine]

Subsection 1(1) of the Act also defines “services and facilities” as including:

furniture, appliances and furnishings, parking and related facilities, laundry facilities, elevator facilities, common recreational facilities, garbage facilities and related services, cleaning or maintenance services, storage facilities, intercom systems, cable television facilities, heating facilities or services, air-conditioning facilities, utilities and related services, and security services or facilities

Generally speaking, changes to the rates charged for the referenced services and facilities are largely out of the landlord’s control. In particular, charges for such services as electricity and heating fuel can fluctuate dramatically on a monthly basis. Because separate charges for services and facilities are defined as being part of the rent, the landlord technically is unable to charge the tenant for any service usage that exceeds the amount charged in the first month of the tenancy because they can only increase the rent once in a 12-month period.

There is a workaround for this problem in that the tenant's responsibility for services and facilities can be set out in a written tenancy agreement as an additional obligation, but that is not an option for oral or implied tenancy agreements. Also, as long as the definition of rent remains as is, even if the written tenancy agreement includes the additional obligation for the tenant to pay services and facilities but requires the tenant to pay those bills to the landlord, then the landlord still technically cannot charge any amounts to the tenant that exceed the amount charged in the first month of the tenancy without giving the tenant at least three months' written notice of the rent increase. And the landlord still can only institute the rent increase once in a 12-month period.

In an effort to address this paradox, I request consideration be given to amending the definition of "rent" by striking out "whether or not a separate charge is made for the services and facilities, privilege, accommodation or thing". I believe doing this would require the landlord who wants to recover the costs of utilities from the tenant to either charge an amount of rent that already accounts for those costs or to prepare a written tenancy agreement that includes the additional obligation that the tenant is independently responsible for the named utilities.

Unlawful Distraint and Seizure

Subsections 3(1) and 35(1) of the Act prohibit the landlord from seizing and distraining (holding) a tenant's property for any breach of the Act, including the obligation to pay rent. However, there are no remedies available to a tenant for losses suffered as a direct result of a landlord contravening either of those subsections. The prohibitions in sections 3 and 35 are also not included as summary offences under section 91 of the Act.

This issue rarely arises, but I would request consideration be given to amending the Act to include remedies for breaches under sections 3 and 35.

Section 91 Summary Offences

Paragraph 91(1)(a) of the Act recognizes the contravention of sections 14, 14.1, 14.2, 17, 18, 33, 42, 47, and 54.1 as summary offences punishable by a fine upon conviction. Sections 14, 14.1, 14.2, 17, and 18 deal with security deposits and pet security deposits. Section 33 deals with providing vital services. Section 42 deals with damages to the rental premises caused by the tenant. Section 47 deals with rent increases. Section 54.1 deals with terminating tenancies due to family violence.

The sections regarding security deposits, vital services, damages, and rent increases all include remedies by application to a rental officer. However, these considerations are specific to individual tenancies and do not address repeated breaches over multiple tenancies. I am less concerned in this regard for the offences respecting damages caused by tenants than I am about the other three offences committed by landlords.

Paragraph 91(1)(a) is the only option which could be considered to punish a landlord who repeatedly and purposely continues to improperly retain the security deposits, interferes with the provision of vital services, or improperly increases rents. Unfortunately, pursuing charges of this nature are unusually difficult to apply, are largely ineffective, and on the exceedingly rare occasion when the charge is pursued the resulting fine is of such little value that it fails to serve as a deterrent.

My predecessor has recommended, and I continue to concur, that establishing within the Act the ability to issue summary offence tickets with minimum voluntary fines for specified violations, such as those I have referenced above, may be a more effective deterrent to persistent violations of the Act by landlords than a full prosecution before the court.

On that note, there currently is no enforcement officer or established procedure to pursue charges under section 91 of the Act. This would need to be addressed for any of the offences listed under section 91 of the Act to be effective.

Assignment and Subletting

Subsection 22(2) of the Act specifies that an assignment/sublet is not valid unless the landlord has given written consent. It also specifies that the landlord may not unreasonably withhold that consent.

Subsections 22(3) and 22(4) permit a tenant who has been unreasonably refused consent to assign/sublet their tenancy agreement to request an order from the Rental Officer permitting the assignment or sublet without the landlord's written consent.

There is no other remedy available for a tenant who has been unreasonably denied consent for an assignment/sublet. Unfortunately this does not address situations where the unreasonable denial has resulted in the prospective assignee/sublessee losing interest in the assignment/sublet, unfairly leaving the tenant in a position that may be financially challenging for them. In this scenario other remedies would be desirable, such as requiring the landlord to compensate the tenant for losses suffered as a direct result of the landlord's breach and/or early termination of the tenancy agreement.

I would request consideration of an amendment to the Act to provide for additional remedies where a landlord unreasonably withholds consent for an assignment or sublet.

Roommates

In the Northwest Territories it is not unusual for people to rent out spare rooms to other individuals. The high cost of living in the North often necessitates this extra source of income. Generally speaking, this is not an issue, and where the person renting out the room owns the premises the tenancy is governed by the Act. However, where the person renting out the room is renting the premises from another party, the Act does not apply.

Subsection 1(1) of the Act defines a landlord as including:

the owner, or other person permitting occupancy of rental premises, and his or her heirs, assigns, personal representatives and successors in title and a person, other than a tenant occupying rental premises, who is entitled to possession of a residential complex and who attempts to enforce any of the rights of a landlord under a tenancy agreement or this Act, including the right to collect rent; [emphasis mine]

The Act is designed to set out the rights and obligations of landlords and tenants, and to provide resolution services for disputes between landlords and tenants. Effectively, what I will refer to as “tenant-tenant” residential tenancies are specifically exempt from the Act, because there is no provision including them. The contract between the tenant renting out a room and the person renting the room would be considered a civil contract, and should any disputes arise out of this type of contract the Rental Office currently suggests the parties make inquiries regarding filing a civil claim in the Territorial Court.

Considering it is a common practice in the North for parties to rent rooms from other tenants, it may be appropriate to give some thought to how those tenant-tenant relationships can be better protected and perhaps brought within the Act. This may be as straightforward as striking out “other than a tenant occupying rental premises” from the definition of “landlord”.

Provision of Receipts

Subsection 36.1(1) of the Act requires the landlord to produce receipts for the payment of any rent, security deposits, or other amount to a tenant or former tenant who requests it. However, there is no remedy available for the tenant whose landlord fails to produce the requested receipts. Nor is failing to comply with subsection 36.1(1) listed as a punishable offence under subsection 91(1) of the Act.

I would request consideration of an amendment to the Act to provide for either a remedy to a tenant for a landlord failing to provide receipts upon request or for the offence to be listed as punishable under subsection 91(1) of the Act.

Transitional Housing

A Rental Officer decision made in November 2019 which found a local transitional housing tenancy agreement was not exempt from the Act was overturned in November 2020 by the Supreme Court of the Northwest Territories on appeal as the Rental Officer’s finding relied on too narrow an interpretation of the exemptions provided for under subparagraphs 6(2)(d) and 6(2)(e) of the Act.

While I appreciate and respect the guidance the Supreme Court's findings provide, I remain of the opinion that a definition of transitional housing in the Act, along with a specific exemption, would provide clarity for all parties. I also continue to believe that transitional housing landlords and tenants could benefit from being brought under the umbrella of the Act provided that special provisions permit the program to operate as designed, similar to those provided for subsidized public housing programs. I would recommend consideration of either of these options for amendment to the Act.

Adelle Guigon
Chief Rental Officer

Appendix A

Statistics for the 2021 - 2022 Fiscal Year

APPLICATIONS FILED
	2017-2018	2018-2019	2019-2020	2020-2021	2021-2022
Total	424	442	456	297	290
By Landlords	396	421	423	272	272
By Tenants	28	21	33	25	17

APPLICATIONS HEARD
	2017-2018	2018-2019	2019-2020	2020-2021	2021-2022
Total	363	443	408	239	262
From Landlords	345	422	387	221	250
From Tenants	18	21	21	18	12

APPLICATIONS WITHDRAWN OR DISMISSED
	2017-2018	2018-2019	2019-2020	2020-2021	2021-2022
Total	52	47	64	47	58
By Applicants	43	30	52	37	43
By Rental Officer	9	17	12	10	15

TERMINATION AND EVICTION ORDERS
	2017-2018	2018-2019	2019-2020	2020-2021	2021-2022
Termination Orders Requested by Tenant	0	2	0	3	1
Termination Orders Requested by Landlord	161	224	228	108	140
Termination Orders as Percentage of Applications Heard	44.4%	51%	55.9%	46.4%	53.8%
Evictions Ordered	150	217	211	91	95
Eviction Orders as Percentage of Applications Heard	41.3%	49%	51.7%	38.1%	36.3%

*Note: These numbers include orders which terminated a tenancy agreement or evicted tenants only if specific conditions were not met.

REMEDIES PROVIDED TO TENANTS 2021-2022
Security Deposits	8
Alteration of Locks	4
Landlord Maintenance and Repairs	3
Landlord Disturbances	4
Family Violence Terminations	1

REMEDIES PROVIDED TO LANDLORDS 2021-2022
Security Deposits	2
Alteration of Locks	4
Rental Arrears	398
Damages	73
Disturbances	58
Additional Obligations	89
Illegal Activities	2
Personal Differences (Roommates)	2
Termination: Landlord's/Purchaser's Use	3
Termination: Demolition	4
Termination: Change of Use	4
Lost Future Rent	1
Evictions	122
Overholding Rent	23
Terms and Conditions	91
Minimum Monthly Installments	10

*Note: Many orders contain multiple remedies. Therefore, the total remedies applied exceed the total number of orders. For example, there are three available remedies which may be applied for non-payment of rent. Often an order for non-payment of rent provides for more than one remedy.

MONETARY COMPENSATION ORDERS

	2017-2018	2018-2019	2019-2020	2020-2021	2021-2022
Total Orders Granting Monetary Compensation	314	363	347	191	205
Total Value of Orders Issued	$1,709,873	$1,909,529	$1,565,547	$801,690	$1,216,415
Average Value	$5,445	$5,260	$4,511	$4,197	$5,933

ELAPSED TIME BETWEEN FILING AND HEARING

	2017-2018	%	2018-2019	%	2019-2020	%	2020-2021	%	2021-2022	%
0-30 days	2	1%	3	1%	7	2%	11	5%	23	9%
31-60 days	24	6%	153	35%	251	61%	149	63%	185	71%
61-90 days	145	40%	148	33%	98	24%	30	13%	23	9%
91-120 days	131	36%	83	19%	24	6%	21	9%	17	6%
120+ days	61	17%	56	12%	29	7%	24	10%	13	5%

ELAPSED TIME BETWEEN HEARING AND WRITING ORDER

	2017-2018	%	2018-2019	%	2019-2020	%	2020-2021	%	2021-2022	%
0-30 days	138	38.0%	324	73%	369	90%	234	99.6%	258	99%
31-60 days	110	30.4%	95	21%	30	7%	1	0.4%	3	1%
61-90 days	80	22.0%	22	5%	10	3%	0	0%	0	0%
91-120 days	35	9.6%	2	1%	0	0%	0	0%	0	0%
120+ days	0	0.0%	0	0%	0	0%	0	0%	0	0%